UPDATE: Musician Gets Stolen Guitars Back; Laptop Still Missing

Local recording artist Anuheia is asking for the public's help after she had two prized guitars and a laptop stolen from her truck Sunday morning in Waikiki.

Her truck was parked at a friend's house near the Ala Wai canal on Pau St. while she went stand up paddling between 6:30 a.m. and 10:30 a.m.

The guitars are both in black hard cases, with no real markings on them. One is her aunty's guitar, a family heirloom that she says is worth a lot of money. Her aunty is Nalani Choy of the group Na Leo. The other was a pono custom koa wood guitar.

The laptop is a MacBook with a collage over the top.

Her label is offering a $500 reward per item, NO QUESTIONS ASKED.

If you have any information, call Warren Wyatt at 808-333-4224.
